Newsletter No 89

The last fortnight has seen a major win for the BDS movement in South Africa through the cancellation of a South African Rugby Union invitation to an Israeli Rugby team to take part in a provincial rugby competition in March (more details further down) and also revelation of soaring Superfund investments in companies complicit in building and maintaining illegal Israeli settlements on occupied Palestinian land.

This newsletter gives the background to these two issues and then we ask you to send three emails in support!

Superfund investments in Palestinian oppression soar – PSNA demands government action

PSNA Media Release 12 February 2023:

Palestine Solidarity Network Aotearoa has written to the Minister of Foreign Affairs Nanaia Mahuta demanding the government direct the New Zealand Superfund to end investments in Israel's brutal oppression of Palestinians.

"The Superfund must withdraw its investments in the 112 companies identified by the United Nations Human Rights Council as complicit in the building and maintenance of illegal Israeli settlements on stolen Palestinian land", says PSNA National Chair, John Minto.

Two years ago the Superfund had $73 million invested in these companies. Today it is $125 million as broken down here:

“Israel’s apartheid regime is the beneficiary of these Superfund’s irresponsible, human-rights-busting investments”

“New Zealand is shamed by the Superfund’s callous disregard for Palestinians”

Two years ago the Superfund withdrew investments from five Israeli banks who were building and supporting the illegal settlements but ignored the majority of these complicit companies.

We expect the government to act. These reckless investments should be ended by lunchtime tomorrow.

Sports boycott of Israel bites hard

Good news from South Africa last week.

Within a few days of announcing an Israeli rugby team had been invited to take part in South Africa’s Currie Cup provincial rugby competition the invitation was withdrawn under a welter of criticism. A marvellous victory for BDS.

The coalition fighting the invitation in South Africa included activists from the 1970s and 1980s in the fight against South African apartheid as well as BDS South Africa, PACBI and the Palestinian BNC.

South African media contacted PSNA National Chair John Minto to comment because John is also former National Organiser for HART (Halt All Racist Tours) which successfully campaigned to stop rugby contact between New Zealand and apartheid South Africa in the 1970s and 1980s.

John's interview with Salaamedia is here.

Israel is a full member of the International Rugby Board and the International Olympic Committee. As we did in the fight against apartheid in South Africa, we need to work on our own rugby union and Olympic Committee to begin pressure to get Israel thrown out of these bodies.

As activists in the SACOS activists used to say "you can't have normal sport in an abnormal society". It goes without saying that an apartheid state is as abnormal as it gets...

Three important messages you can send now with just a few clicks...

1. Email this letter to the New Zealand Superfund

Matt Whineray
Chief Executive Officer
NZ Super Fund
enquiries@nzsuperfund.co.nz

Kia ora Matt,

New Zealand Superfund investments in companies violating international law

In early 2021 the Superfund had $73 million invested in the 112 companies identified by the United Nations Human Rights Council as in breach of international law through helping build and maintain illegal Israeli settlements on occupied Palestinian land.

Today, based on the latest publicly available portfolio on your website, these Superfund investments have now increased to $125 million.

While the Superfund has been increasing its investments in companies in breach of international law and United Nations resolutions, late last year Israel elected its most extreme right-wing government ever which includes a Prime Minister, Benjamin Netanyahu, who believes the "the way to deal with Palestinians is to beat them up - not once but repeatedly, beat them up so it hurts so badly, until its unbearable"; a Minister of National Security, Itamar Ben Gvir, who openly admires the anti-Palestinian terrorist Baruch Goldstein who massacred 29 Palestinians in the Ibrahimi mosque in the occupied West Bank city of Hebron in 1994 and a Minister of Finance, Bezalel Smotrich, who believes all Palestinians should be ethnically cleansed from historic Palestine.

You should also be aware the new Israeli regime has announced its top priority is to expand illegal settlements in defiance of international law and United Nations resolution. Successive New Zealand governments have condemned these settlements as a "blatant violation of international law" as in United Nations Security Council resolution 2334 which was sponsored by New Zealand in 2016 under the previous National-led government under John Key's leadership.

It is clear the Superfund is not actively engaged with this critical issue of international human rights violations and appears to have little regard for the United Nations Human Rights Council or New Zealand government concerns.

I urge you to change direction and immediately withdraw all $125 million invested in the 112 companies in breach of international law.

Please respond without unnecessary delay.

(Your name)

2. Email this letter to the Minister of Foreign Affairs

*Hon Nanaia Mahuta
Minister of Foreign Affairs
Parliament Buildings
Wellington

Kia ora Nanaia,

3. Email this letter to the South African Rugby Union

Mark Alexander
President
South African Rugby Union
yourview@sarugby.co.za

Kia ora Mr Alexander,

Congratulations but...

I'm pleased to be able to write to you to congratulate you on SARU's decision to cancel the invitation to an Israeli rugby team to compete in a South African provincial competition next month.

I was astonished SARU issued the invitation in the first place because Israel is a racist apartheid state. I hope you are aware that as well as Palestinian groups such as Al Haq, every major international human rights organisation has now condemned Israel for its apartheid policies against Palestinians. For example UK based Amnesty International, US based Human Rights Watch and the largest and most respected human rights organisation in Israel, B'Tselem have all condemned Israel as an apartheid state.

To put it simply, Israel's settler colonial apartheid regime is denying human rights to Palestinians; surely this sounds familiar to SARU? Wasn't it another European settler colonial regime which denied civil, political, human and sporting rights to black South Africans, just as Israel denies the same to Palestinians today?

And just as black South Africans asked the world to boycott apartheid South Africa to bring pressure for political change – a successful part of the South African liberation strategy – Palestinians are asking the world to boycott Israel to help bring pressure for equal rights for everyone living in historic Palestine.

Racism has no part in any society or in any sport – either in South Africa or Israel.

I would welcome your assurance SARU will condemn Israel's refusal to provide equal political rights, and equal sporting rights, to Palestinians and will refuse to have any dealings with Israel till it abandons its apartheid policies.

I look forward to hearing from you.

In solidarity from Aotearoa New Zealand.

Message received from Al Shabaka – the Palestine Policy Network

Dear PSNA,

The Al-Shabaka staff and board are pleased to share our new institutional language, including rearticulated vision and mission statements, organizational values, and a theory of change.

Launched in 2010, Al-Shabaka has since operated under its founding mission: to educate and foster public debate on Palestinian human rights and self-determination within the framework of international law. Throughout this time, and among other notable shifts, Palestinians gained new ground in shaping global discourse vis-a-vis Palestine; international human rights organizations at long last heeded the Palestinian call to recognize Israeli apartheid; and Palestinian grassroots organizers forged new ties in global solidarity.

Each of these developments has informed and shaped our work at Al-Shabaka. As years passed and new strides were made, we found ourselves being pushed beyond the bounds of our original mission: International law was no longer vast enough to encompass the framework of our analysis; we sought to be more intentional about centering Palestinians as our primary audience and affirming our accountability to the Palestinian people as a whole; and we grew more focused on envisioning a liberated future.

Our Process

As our strategic cycle came to a close in 2022, the moment felt rife with opportunity to draft new language to better reflect the direction in which our work was already moving. It also presented an opportunity to further consider how we want to continue to evolve. During this process, we solicited vital input from hundreds of policy network members, partners, and supporters through surveys, focus groups, and interviews. We then took this feedback inward, with numerous collective discussions among the staff and board, and an in-person team retreat. This provoked challenging questions about our role as a policy think tank, how we create impact, and how we should prioritize our resources. We asked ourselves:

- What does it mean to be a Palestinian policy think tank in service of liberation?
- How does being part of an emancipatory struggle inform our priorities and where we commit our time, energy, and finances?
- What does success look like in this space, and how may it differ from other policy think tanks?

We returned to these questions time and again. In doing so, we began to craft new language for Al-Shabaka that ultimately led to a profound and energizing reaffirmation of who we are as an institution, and of the change we hope to create and contribute to. What follows is the culmination of this effort.

Our Vision

We envision the Palestinian people articulating and determining the contours of a liberated future.

We believe that transformative change and liberation are processes that must come from within. Our vision is of a world where Palestinians are at the helm of determining their collective future, relying on language recovered and reclaimed after generations of attempted silencing and erasure. It is a world free from settler colonization, apartheid, and imposed agendas and discourses.

Our Mission

Al-Shabaka convenes a multidisciplinary, global network of Palestinian analysts to produce critical policy analysis and collectively imagine a new policymaking paradigm for Palestine and Palestinians worldwide.

We believe that Al-Shabaka can serve the liberation movement by carving out space for Palestinians to critically examine their histories and conditions, to inform frameworks of solidarity organizing, and to articulate visions for liberation and what follows.

While tangible policy change designed to advance Palestinian liberation remains out of reach, we work to prefigure what liberated policymaking could look like: Palestinian-led, consensus-driven, pluralistic, and radically democratic. By putting these values into practice in our present work, we ready the ground for future actualization as a collective whole. Our policy network of over 200 Palestinian experts, analysts, and practitioners is fundamental to this effort, and it is through the engagement of our members that we can begin to conceive this new policy paradigm.

This work is fundamentally guided by a core set of institutional values - at the forefront of which is decolonization. We understand decolonization as the critical awareness and dismantling of colonial power and primacy, and the reclamation and re-centering of indigenous knowledge, land, and culture. Such a process is an essential step in building a self-determined future.

Looking Forward

We hope that you are as inspired by this new articulation of our work as we are, and we invite you to delve further into our theory of change, institutional values, and key strategies for the forthcoming years by clicking here, or navigating to our site. We look forward to sharing our future work with you and, as always, appreciate your readership and support.

The Al-Shabaka Staff and Board

Petition to Close the Israeli Embassy

<https://www.psna.nz/petition>

Keep your eyes peeled and your ears open...

Back in the 1980s the New Zealand Anti-Apartheid movement launched a campaign to close the South Africa consulate in Wellington. A critical part of this campaign was to target the South African Consul General with public protest whenever he turned up to promote apartheid. The campaign was successful with the government forcing the closure of the consul-general's information service (its propaganda wing) In a fit of pique the South African government then closed its consulate entirely – a victory in the campaign to isolate South Africa's apartheid regime.

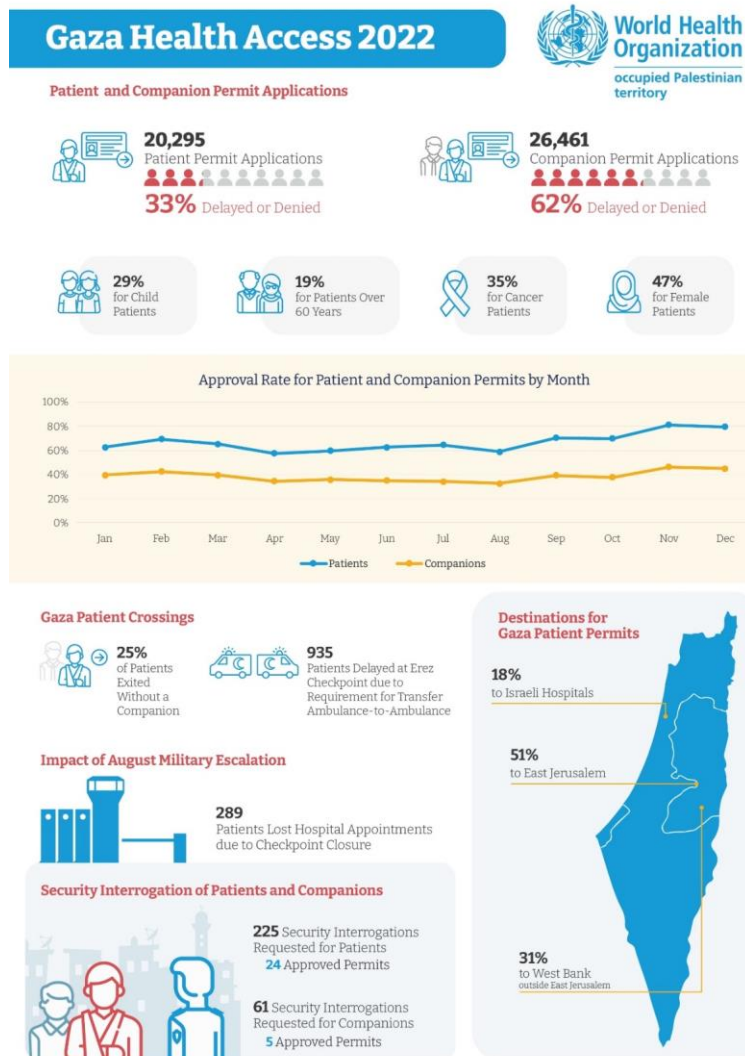

In 2023 the Palestine Solidarity Network Aotearoa is launching a similar campaign to close apartheid Israel's embassy in Wellington. We need our supporters everywhere to help by letting us know whenever Ran Yaakoby is to speak and we will be there to protest. Help to spread the poster above among family, friends and work colleagues.

If you see him on the street give him a piece of your mind.

We will not stand by while the racist Israeli government continues its brutal oppression of Palestinians.

Join the campaign to close the racist Israeli embassy!

Health report from Gaza for 2022

Jewish colonies in Palestine caught Einstein's eye

Rainy, gloomy weather greeted Albert Einstein on his only trip to the Holy Land 100 years ago, in early February 1923. "Arab villages, Jewish colonies, olive trees, cacti, and orange trees" were the first sights to catch his eye, as he noted in his journal, in German.

The full piece is behind a paywall here

Were Einstein to visit Palestine today he would be astounded at the extent of the illegal Israeli colonies across Palestine and the mass destruction of Palestinian villages by Israel in its ethnic cleansing operations against Palestinians.
